

What I learned

At introductory class of the Industry Topics I class I learned about the Startup week, which will take place in Vancouver between 25-29 of September/2017. Although the event tickets are too pricey for me at this point (up to $349 at the time of this writing), the event will hold a recruitment fair costing only $10. This fair will be a good opportunity to grow my professional network and get in touch with Vancouver IT community and hopefully, by the time of conclusion in this program, I'll be ready to land some interviews.

Plan to complete course reqs

In order to complete the criteria for this class, I plan to have an informational interview with somebody occupying a desirable position in a major IT company located in Vancouver. Below are the steps to achieve this plan:

- Meet somebody currently working at any of the afore mentioned companies – Status: finished
- Connect with this person in LinkedIn – Status: ongoing
- Look for available positions in those companies which they have information about – Status: not started
- Meet the person a second time to inquiry specifically what it takes to get the position or another inside the company – Status: not started
- Get a interview – Status: not started
